

NEW DIMENSIONS FOR GOVINDER

As Govinder already has a strong fan base in Japan, his two week tour of the country which takes place this October is expected to attract large numbers of people into the galleries, to meet him and admire his work. To celebrate his success in Japan, a very special calendar has been produced for 2008. A limited edition of 395 calendars are available in the UK, each decorated with gold foil and signed and numbered by Govinder himself. These will be on sale in selected galleries in the UK from November.

FROM RUSSIA WITH LOVE

When Harrods unveil their Christmas window displays each year, people from far and wide travel to see them. This year the theme is a Russian Winter, and Washington Green, in association with Harrods, have commissioned three artists to interpret the subject in their own unique style. Artists Jeff Rowland, Govinder Nazran and Paul Kenton are currently working on their Russian masterpieces. The finished pictures will be on show in the gallery on the second floor of Harrods, over the Christmas period.

DEMAND DOWN UNDER!

The ongoing popularity of Mackenzie Thorpe's work continues to spread across the world with a growing demand coming from Australasia. After an outstanding show of his sculptural pieces in Christchurch at the beginning of the year, he moved on to Australia's Northern Territory where he spent time working alongside a group of Aborigine artists. Despite distinctly different cultural and artistic heritages, he formed a strong and mutually respectful bond with the artists. Thorpe commented: "They are such remarkable people and showed me a oneness with the earth, the sky and themselves." The work created on this trip, and subsequently inspired by the experience of his travels, is on show from October 2007 in exhibitions in Perth and Sydney.

THE VEGAS EXPERIENCE

Washington Green (in partnership with Applejack Publishing) recently took part in Art Expo - Las Vegas, Nevada. It was the first time that the company had exhibited the work of many of its highly successful artists at this event, and the reaction was overwhelmingly positive. Both Caroline Shotton and Paul Kenton along with other artists exhibited their work to a hugely favourable response from the American public, which has helped boost an international reputation.
